

This proposal will penalize responsible broadcasters who follow the rules and have never had a complaint about their programming filed with the FCC. Listeners are the greatest source for complaints; investigate and address the few problem stations that air controversial programming and do not force this proposal on stations who abide by the rules.